

ABSTRACT

A method for modifying a plant to produce antibodies or active fragments or derivatives thereof in a desired cellular compartment comprising introducing into a plant a DNA sequence encoding a heavy chain immunoglobulin or an active fragment or derivative thereof or a sequence encoding a protein functionally equivalent thereto and plants so modified are disclosed.